SHELTON STATE TO OFFER TELECONFERENCE ON TOTAL QUALITY MANAGEMENT IN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

Total quality management, one of the new trends in business and industry of the 1990's, is also a concept that can be applied to higher education.

As part of this new thrust towards building quality schools, Shelton State Community College will offer a teleconference, "TQM in Colleges and Universities: How to Make it Happen," on Tuesday, October 20, at 1 p.m. in the Fire College auditorium located on McFarland Boulevard next to Bruno's.

Under this concept, a customer first approach is taken in higher education. With this approach, colleges and universities will view the school as the "seller," the student as the "customer," and education as the "product."

This teleconference will examine how TQM empowers schools to meet growing demands with fewer resources and enables them to become more accountable and responsive to their students and to their communities. Some of the teleconference highlights include: total quality management and how it can work in higher education; TQM success stories in education; common problems and pitfalls; and best strategies for implementation.

A pre-conference overview and concepts session will be held at 12:30 prior to the teleconference. The admission fee is $10.00 and registration prior to the teleconference is required. For reservations, contact JoAnn Fleming, director of distance learning at the college, by calling (205) 391-2362.

NEW OFFICERS FOR SHELTON STATE ASSOCIATION OF NURSING STUDENTS

The first annual installation ceremony of new officers for the Shelton State Association of Nursing Students was held recently at the college.

Officers for the 1992-93 year include: Susan Crawford, president; Dawn Levert, vice president; Jennifer Barnett, secretary; Remona Wilson, financial secretary; Steve Junkin, treasurer; Pearlana Harris, chaplain; Cindy Taylor, historian; Linda Hall, reporter; and Jo Ann Oliver, student committee representative. The officers were installed by Jackie Williams and Gladys Hill, faculty advisors.

The SSANS is a member of the Alabama Association of Nursing Students and the National Student Nurses' Association, Inc. The purpose of the SSANS is to aid in the preparation of professional nurses.

HEACOCK CURRENTLY TEACHING AT SHELTON STATE

Rex Heacock is currently the college's on-site coordinator for Sequencer Logic Controller and Programmable Logic Controller classes at Uniroyal Goodrich. Before joining the college, Heacock served as an electronics instructor for the Alabama Industrial Development Training Institute. Prior to joining AIDT, he worked with the government, the University of Alabama, and Huyck Felt. Along with his teaching and coordinating duties at Goodrich, he will develop a multicraft maintenance program for use with industry. His office is located in the Morrison Industrial Training Center.

SHELTON SINGERS TO PRESENT FIRST CONCERT OF THE 92-93 SEASON

On Thursday, October 29, the Shelton Singers will present their first concert of the 92-93 season at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of Covenant Presbyterian Church. This award-winning forty-voice concert choir is under the direction of Glinda Blackshear.

The first half of the concert will consist of Mozart's Missa Brevis in C, K. 220. Soloists for the mass are Melanie Lake, soprano; Sandra Taylor, alto; Chris Tucker, Tenor; and Wes Irvin, bass.

The concert's second half will include motets by Alessandro Scarlatti and Orlando Gibbons; spirituals arranged by Robert Shaw, Roy Ringwald, and William L. Dawson; Hungarian madrigals by Rezso Sugar; and a medley of Irving Berlin's most familiar songs.

The Shelton Singers have consistently been named winners in the annual state Community College Music Showcase and in July received a "Superior Plus" rating at the All-American Music Festival in Orlando. In 1990 the choir was invited to sing in Carnegie Hall, and recently, they have been invited to sing at the Bolshoi in Moscow as part of an American choral and orchestral program which will be broadcast on public television.

The Shelton Singers concert is free, but donations will be accepted to help finance future travels of the group.

READING COUNCIL MEETING HELD AT SHELTON THIS FALL

Shelton State recently hosted the fall meeting of The Tuscaloosa Reading Council. Educators from the city and county schools, private schools, Stillman College, the University of Alabama, and C. A. Fredd were in attendance as were members of the board of directors from The Alabama Reading Association. In addition to the regular business meeting, book representatives displayed materials.
